Auto Financing Market Trends

Q1 2026 Highlights

The last three years have rebalanced the Canadian auto market—from supply shock to affordability and credit pressure

Inventory availability improved, shifting dealer focus from scarcity to pricing, incentives, and mix

Demand remained resilient, but higher rates made financing structure critical to conversions

Vehicle prices leveled off, yet monthly payments stayed near historic highs

Auto delinquencies increased, particularly among non-prime borrowers, tightening credit conditions and partly driven by fraud

We saw that new-to-credit delinquency rose versus the population, but the deviation is better explained by fraud predictions rather than credit risk

Evidence suggests that synthetic fraud is a material contributor to rising delinquency rates and contributes to downstream first-party fraud

Hypothesis	Synthetic fraud is a key contributor to rising delinquency rates across Canada as fraudsters exploit widened new-to-credit approval strategies. As these synthetic files become established, fraudsters may try to harvest these identities for first-party fraud.
Approach	• Our internal study examined opened non-mortgage credit products from Q2 2022 to Q3 2024 and their fraud risk mix • We then inspected the consequential delinquency by fraud risk while holding credit risk stable

Scores to Assess Population Risk

Summary

To summarize our findings…

Synthetic fraud is one of the most significant challenges to rising delinquency rates in Canada and is not being captured today

Increases to first-party fraud are considerably caused by synthetic identities that have matured

The real new-to-credit population is not the culprit, there is no need to scale back NTC strategies if isolating bad actors

Using Credit Data to Support Identity Verification

As regulatory expectations evolve, many organizations are placing greater emphasis on identity verification, customer due diligence, and fraud risk management practices.

Why Consumer Verification Matters

New Regulatory Requirements

Dealerships that finance or lease passenger vehicles must comply with FINTRAC's anti-money laundering and anti-terrorist financing regulations.

Know Your Customer (KYC) Obligations

Dealers must verify customer identities and maintain supporting documentation before completing qualifying financing or leasing transactions.

Combat Fraud and Money Laundering

Enhanced identity verification helps detect synthetic identities, stolen identities, suspicious activity, and potential financial crime before funding occurs.

Recordkeeping and Reporting Requirements

Dealers are required to maintain records and report specific transactions or suspicious activities to FINTRAC when required.

Prepare for Regulatory Examinations

FINTRAC has authority to review dealership compliance programs, customer identification processes, reporting procedures, and recordkeeping practices.

Avoid Financial and Reputational Risk

Non-compliance can result in administrative penalties, increased scrutiny, and reputational damage.

- ✓ Verify customer identity with greater confidence
- ✓ Cross-reference customer information against credit bureau data
- ✓ Identify potential fraud indicators early in the application process
- ✓ Create a stronger audit trail for compliance reviews
- ✓ Support responsible lending decisions while improving portfolio quality

Understanding a Credit Report: The Story Behind the Score

- A credit score is the outcome. A credit report explains why. To make confident lending decisions, dealers should understand the key sections that reveal a consumer's credit behavior, financial stability, and repayment capacity.

- Strong adjudication starts by looking beyond the score. Understanding the full credit report helps dealers identify risk, and structure financing that works for both the customer and the lender.

Why Credit Data Matters: Better Decisions & Stronger Portfolio Performance

Pulling a credit file before making a lending decision is critical because it provides the complete financial picture, helping dealerships and lenders reduce risk while approving more of the right customers.

Move Beyond the Credit Score

- A score alone does not tell the full story.
- Credit files provide payment history, outstanding debt, credit utilization, inquiries, and trade line performance.

Increase Approval Opportunities

- More detailed credit insights can help find financeable customers who may otherwise be declined.
- Supports alternative financing structures and tiered lending strategies.

Improve Decision Accuracy

- Helps identify customers who may appear high-risk but have strong repayment behavior.
- Supports more consistent and data-driven adjudication decisions.

Enhance Dealer Profitability

- Better approvals lead to more vehicle sales and funded deals.
- Reduces costly contract buybacks, fraud losses, and portfolio performance issues.

Reduce Delinquencies and Charge-Offs

- Helps identify warning signs such as missed payments, excessive debt, or recent credit deterioration.
- Credit insights supports lenders to better match financing terms to borrower risk.

Support Responsible Lending

- Demonstrates consistent, objective evaluation of every applicant.
- Supports a more informed review process using available credit information

Observed Trends in Fraud Risk and Credit Performance

Potential Indicator	Context
Temporary SIN	Departure defaults are a real problem and pollute a portion of the temporary SIN population, extra due diligence is required to avoid loan stacking and misuse
Missing SIN	Fraudsters may choose to withhold SIN to avoid detection and improved coverage
Departure Defaults	There are multiple, complex fraud trends plaguing the Canadian financial ecosystem. Prediction and partnership are essential to fight back

Improved fraud visibility helps separate risk from opportunity

Why a Detailed Credit Report Review Matters

For auto lenders and dealers, reviewing the full credit report supports better financing decisions, improved approval strategies, and stronger portfolio performance.

Identify the Real Risk

- Two customers with the same score can have very different credit profiles.
- The credit report highlights potential risks or strengths.

Increase Approval Opportunities

- A lower score may be the result of a temporary event rather than a long-term credit issue.
- Reviewing the full file can uncover compensating factors that support approval.

Understand Payment Behavior

- Review payment history across credit cards, loans, mortgages, and previous auto financing.
- Past payment performance is one of the best indicators of future repayment behavior.

Detect Potential Fraud or Identity Concerns

- Address history, inquiry activity, and account information can reveal inconsistencies requiring further investigation.
- Supports dealer fraud prevention efforts.

Assess Ability to Take on New Debt

- Evaluate existing obligations, balances, and credit utilization.
- Helps determine whether the consumer can reasonably support an additional vehicle payment.

Structure the Right Deal

- Credit insights help determine appropriate loan terms, down payment requirements, interest rates, and lender placement.

Credit Report Elements Commonly Reviewed During Application Assessment

Common Credit Report Indicators
The following examples illustrate commonly reviewed information contained within a consumer credit report.

1 Recent Auto Loan Delinquencies

Visual Queue
- 30, 60, or 90+ day late payments on current or previous auto loans
- Repossession history

Information Available
- Previous auto payment performance is often one of the strongest predictors of future auto loan performance.
- Indicates potential affordability or willingness-to-pay concerns.

Key Considerations ✅ Review payment trend and discuss circumstances with the customer.

2 High Credit Utilization

Visual Queue
- Credit cards consistently using 75%-100% of available limits
- Multiple maxed-out revolving accounts

Information Available
- May indicate financial stress despite an acceptable credit score.
- Reduces capacity for additional monthly obligations.

Key Considerations ✅ Validate income, debt obligations, and payment affordability.

3 Multiple Recent Credit Inquiries

Visual Queue
- Numerous inquiries over the last 30-90 days
- Credit applications across multiple industries

Information Available
- Can indicate aggressive credit seeking.
- May signal a consumer experiencing financial difficulties or preparing to take on significant new debt.

Key Considerations ✅ Understand the reason behind recent credit activity.

4 Collections, Consumer Proposals, or Bankruptcies

Visual Queue
- Active collections
- Recent consumer proposal
- Bankruptcy filings or discharge history

Information Available
- Highlights past financial challenges and potential repayment risk.
- Some lenders may require additional conditions or documentation.

Key Considerations ✅ Match the customer with lenders and financing structures appropriate for their credit profile.

5 Identity & Application Discrepancies

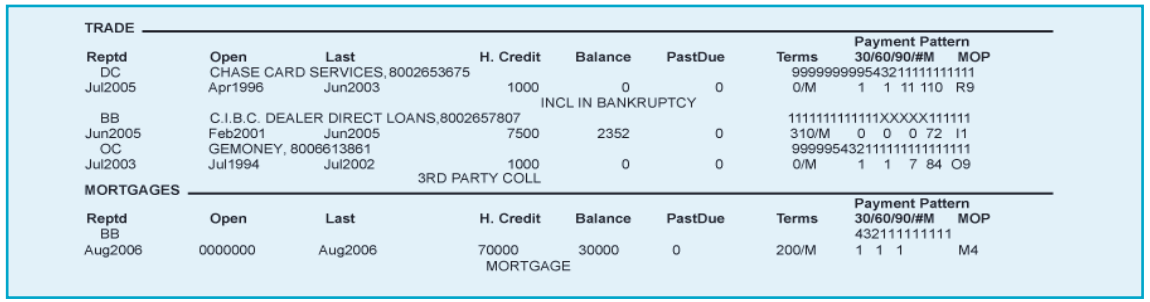

Visual Queue
- Mismatched addresses
- Unusual employment information
- Credit file information that conflicts with the application

Information Available
- Potential indicator of fraud, synthetic identity, or data entry errors.
- Increasingly important under today's fraud and compliance environment.

Key Considerations ✅ Verify identity and supporting documentation before proceeding.

Additional Context Available Within a Credit Report

Beyond the score, credit reports provide additional context about a consumer's credit history and financial profile.

Customers don't buy products. They buy solutions to risks they recognize.

The credit report provides context that can help organizations better understand a customer's financial profile and engage in more informed discussions

What a Credit Bureau Review Reveals

- Payment history and prior missed payments
- Existing installment and revolving debt obligations
- Loan-to-income and payment burden indicators
- History of vehicle financing and ownership patterns
- Potential financial vulnerabilities that could impact repayment ability

Examples of Insights That Support Customer Conversations

Life & Disability Protection

- Helps protect loan payments during covered life events
- Particularly relevant when customers have high financial obligations

GAP Protection

- Helps cover the difference between loan balance and vehicle value
- Valuable for customers financing a high percentage of the vehicle purchase

Extended Service Contract / Warranty

- Provides predictable repair costs
- Appeals to customers focused on budgeting and avoiding unexpected expenses

Maintenance Plans

- Allows customers to spread ownership costs into manageable monthly payments
- Supports vehicle reliability and resale value

TruVision – Evolution of TU's trended suite built using pre & post-pandemic data. TVRS helps support the Auto vertical driving profitable strategies across the lifecycle

What is CreditVision?

Traditional scores would suggest similar risk; however, despite similar balances today, three different pictures emerge

Time series view of:

- Credit limit & balance
- Minimum & actual payments
- Deduced spend
- Delinquencies

Predictive insights like:

- Revolving vs. transacting
- Payment behavior
- Deduced spend
- Risk & bankruptcy scores

What is new with TruVision?

- Market shifts post pandemic
- Voice of customer (VOC)
- Recency of data & new inquiries
- New trended data
- Machine learning techniques

1 New Trended Risk Score

Improved Performance across segments including New to Credit

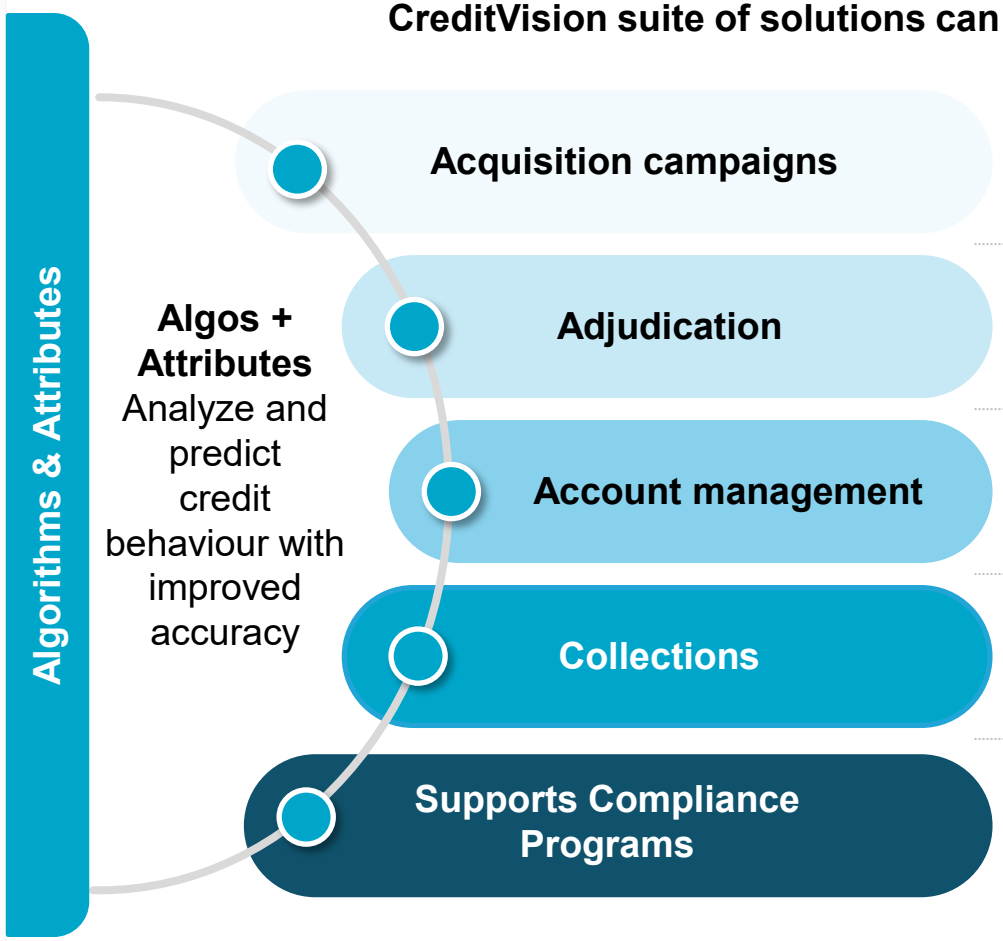

2 New Trended Algorithms

Payment magnitude & payment to balance ratios
